Campus Pays Tribute to United Nations With Roundtable and Colorful Festival

By Dick Cushing

A salute to the United Nations in the form of a roundtable discussion and a colorful festival of dances and songs marked the State College observance of the opening of the momentous World Security Conference in San Francisco this week.

Martens Featured In College Symphony Tonight

Bob Martens, Music Federation President, will be the featured soloist at the College Symphony tonight at 8 p.m. in the Frederic Burk Auditorium. Bob will be the pianist for his own composition, "Fantasy for Piano and Orchestra." Dick Bailey, State grad who helped with the orchestration of the piece, will be guest conductor.

"American Salute," a popular Morton Gould number, as well as the balance of the program, will be conducted by Dr. William Knuth, head of State's music department.

The program for the symphony, second in the annual series of spring concerts presented by the music department, includes "Overture Egmont" by Beethoven, "Symphony No. 3 in E flat" by Haydn, "Slavonic Rhapsody No. 2" by Friedmann, "Fugato" by McBride, and "The Walk to the Paradise Garden" by Delius.

Admission to the concert is free and Staters are cordially invited to attend.

Counseling Schedule

1. Counseling for the fall semester will begin on Monday, April 30.

2. All students under general counselors sign for an appointment NOW on bulletin board outside of Room 105.

3. Students under general counselors make an appointment with your counselor.

4. All high sophomores must have major and minor or minors filed before reporting for counseling appointment.

5. IMPORTANT. Every student, except those who entered college Spring Semester 1945, MUST bring to his counseling conference the photostatic copy of his previous college work. The counselor must have this record before a program for the fall semester can be made.

CLOAK, MARRINAN VISIT PRESS CLUB

This week will mark the opening of the "junior gang dinners" held at the San Francisco Press Club in connection with the United Nations Conference. Gater reporters Betty Cloak and William Marrinan will be the first to attend the dinner at which world correspondents and delegates to the conference will speak. Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, will be the featured speaker. Dr. Edward Cassady, journalism sponsor, will also attend.

CARLTON HANSON JOINS FAMED "HELL HAWKS"

Member of the famed 365 "Hell Hawks," a fighter-bomber group, is Staff Sergeant Carlton J. Hanson, State graduate. Sergeant Hanson works with the technical supply section of his squadron overseas, which recently established the first U. S. air field on German soil.

He received his degree from State in 1938 and taught school in Vacaville high school four years.

ST. FRANCIS CHOSEN FOR SENIOR BALL

Soft lights and dreamy music will set the mood for the long-awaited Senior Ball, to be held at the St. Francis Hotel on May 19, Fred Hanson, president of the senior class, announced this week.

Bert Whiting's orchestra will provide the smooth dancing rhythms, and the featured vocalist will be Sonia Shaw, of the NBC staff.

"This is THE event of the year," Hanson declared. "We know everyone has been looking forward to it, and we promise that it will be a real success."

The dance will be semi-formal. Admission is $2.75 per couple with a student body card, and $3.50 without one.

Second Round Table Series To Begin

"The San Francisco Conference and How It Will Work," is the subject of the second series of State-sponsored round tables that will begin next week, announced Mrs. Olive Cowell, IRC leader. The first of the new round table series will be held next Monday at 11 in the student lounge. The time schedule of the previous round tables will be used and material will again be prepared and offered for sale by Mrs. Cowell in the International Center.

Staters who failed to attend the first series of round tables on the Big Three meetings leading up to the San Francisco Conference will be given a second opportunity to do so. The entire set of material on these meetings will be put on sale at 25c a set in College Hall.

Attendance figures for the first round tables, as announced by Betty Jennings, chairman of the Coordinating Committee, reveal that an average of one hundred Staters attended the round tables each week. Delta Sigma, honorary debating society, lead the group organizations with 100 per cent participation. The International Relations Club claims a 75 per cent participation, and the Nu Sigma Omega honorary science club, 50 per cent.

An open roundtable discussion was held in Frederic Burk auditorium Monday as the concluding session of a series of four roundtables held at the College during the past month. It was a lively discussion of problems confronting the delegates at the United Nations conference which began Wednesday.

Folk Dances

Later, in the Women's Gym, an hour-long program of folk dances and songs was presented. Then, carrying out the United Nations theme, lunches in the cafeteria featured Chinese, Spanish, Scandinavian and good old American dishes.

Dr. A. C. Roberts, president of the college, termed this "one of the most historic weeks in human history."

Speaking at the roundtable program in Frederic Burk, Dr. Roberts movingly declared that this college has through the years promoted in every way possible the cause of world peace, saying that international harmony is "firmly engrained in the thinking of the college."

Honors Roosevelt

Later, in closing the well-attended meeting, he dedicated the United Nations Roundtable Series to the memory of the late President Roosevelt and to the teachers and students of the world who have died "that nations might be free to cooperate to maintain peace."

In a stirring address he declared: "They have sacrificed their lives; we must consecrate our lives to the achievement of international peace. As the poet Herman Hagedorn has said, 'They died. But you who live must do a harder thing than dying is, for you must think. And ghosts shall drive you on.'"

F. D. R. Memorial

Mrs. Olive Cowell, professor of international relations, said President Roosevelt gave his life for the cause of international peace, and suggested that peace would

Dr. Roberts To Confer On International Education

President Alexander C. Roberts will represent the American Association of Teachers' Colleges at a meeting of all the American educational organizations, to be held tomorrow at the office of the S. F. Board of Education. Purpose of the meeting is to consider formation of a committee on international education which will promote understanding in the post-war period.

No fewer than 39 organizations will be represented at the meeting, which will be under the direction of William G. Carr, of the National Education Office in Washington, D. C.

PAN AMERICAN MEETING

Senor Fernando Guzman, son of the consul of Chile, will sing a group of his own compositions at the Pan American League meeting next Wednesday in Annex A-12 at noon.

CAMPUS FESTIVAL. Here are scenes from the United Nations Festival on the campus Monday, showing costume folk dances in the women's gym and, at the bottom, international dishes being turned out by the cafe.

These festivities which marked the opening of the San Francisco Conference were presented to contrast the more serious nature of the United Nations roundtables.—Photos by Dick Cushing.

EDITORIAL

Wars take blood, sweat and tears, in the words of Winston Churchill. All that is asked of State students is their blood, extracted painlessly. It doesn't cost you a penny.

Yet the blood drive on the campus made the worst showing of the semester last week. Whether it was the excitement of the World Security Conference and the campus United Nations Festival we don't know. But for the first time in the blood drive not a wagon-load made the trip to the downtown blood center.

This is alarming, particularly at a time when American casualties on the many fighting fronts reached a staggering figure of dead and wounded—wounded who might live if blood plasma can be transferred into their veins from yours.

With San Francisco now the peace center of the world, the College—above all else—should make a splendid showing in blood donations.

The semester quota is 200 pints of blood—one pint per person. About 1,000 students and faculty are on the campus. Yet, only 100 pints have been given since the semester started—and the deadline is only three weeks away.

This means that if State is to fulfill its quota, 35 persons a week must donate their blood.

Can we do it? Of course we can! See Dean Ward today for your appointment.

In reply to last week's editorial, President Jim Lindsey has asked that a clarification be made as to two absences of Board members. President Lindsey's statement: "It should have been stated that Jean Cantwell was excused because of teaching in the afternoon last semester. She has not missed a single meeting this term. It might also be noted that Bob Martens was absent because of pneumonia a cause for absence regarded as justifiable. Other than this, I believe it was well stated and timed observation."

The late President Roosevelt stated to Congress, "My report on UNRRA revealed that as many war victims have died from exposure and lack of adequate clothing, as have died from starvation."

We, who have lived untouched during a time when most of the world has had to fight a constant battle for its right to live, can and should help alleviate this disastrous shortage by giving a portion of our clothing for this cause.

Bring any wearable clothing that you can spare to the box labeled "Clothing Drive" in College Hall.

LIFE LINES

By BONNIE HARRIS

Another Friday, and more of the same old stuff.

Jim Diggins, now Admiral Jim, came for a visit this week. He made us all happy, but particularly Phyllis Andriani.

Eating ice cream cones seems to be the new "pastime" around here. Bob Martens looks so nonchalant with a strawberry cone in one hand and an important looking sheaf of music papers in the other.

Last week's sunburn has turned to tan. It looks particularly good on people like Lorraine Grey, Helena Mitchell, and Mimi Robbins. Not on those people, but people like them.

Holding classes on the Bleachers seems to be THE thing. At least, Dr. Thomson and Dr. Murphy think so. And you should see the yellow and blue suspenders on the former. They rival Vince McGrath's searing red ones of last semester.

The Co-op must be losing mo-

MEET YOUR FACULTY

"I came here in 1929, when the college had only 750 students," recalls Dr. Floyd Cave, State's popular professor of government. "Out of this number there were but ten men—and you can put a question mark after that." Before coming to State, Dr. Cave taught at the University of Redlands, where most of his students were men. "I had a little trouble adjusting myself and modifying my jokes to suit so many women," he adds.

Dr. Cave is active in the faculty association, and is chairman of the State college legislative committee. He makes frequent trips to Sacramento in this capacity, and he has been instrumental in passing laws such as the tenure revision for teachers and the sabbatical leave of absence. He declares that one of his greatest aims is to get bigger salaries for school teachers, and particularly for college instructors.

As special interests Dr. Cave names long hikes and gardening. "I'm also an ardent detective story fan," he adds. "They help me forget the heavy stuff I have to work on here sometimes."

He is author of numerous magazine articles and book chapters, his latest work being an article on censorship for the 1945 edition of the Encyclopedia Americana.

MUSICIANS AND MARIJUANA

By LOU RUBIN

This week we are inverting our agenda a little and instead of the commercializing of music we are discussing the effects of marijuana upon musicians. The first logical step in this direction would be to consider why musicians use marijuana at all.

The life of a name band dance musician, which is the category where the vast bulk of "tea" is smoked, is one of constant strain, and perpetual fatigue. For example, a band like Dorsey's comes to the Coast for a brief tour. The band plays at the Civic Auditorium on Monday night. On Tuesday they ride to Oakland and play Tuesday night at Sweet's Ballroom. Wednesday they do a stint at Portland; Thursday morning they climb back on the bus and travel to Los Angeles for a one week stand. Then after that brief interlude, they hit the road again and travel to Tacoma, Seattle, and the Washington area. Consequently, and stimulant helps them to alleviate the strain a bit.

On the other hand, music is extremely dependent upon the emotional feeling of a musician. It is difficult to achieve one's peak of musical effectiveness if the emotional plane is in a low state. As a result, the temporary uplift which the musician acquires through the use of dope and liquor appeals to him.

As to the general effect which marijuana may have upon the musicians and the music which they produce, the United States Health Department recently conducted an extremely interesting test in order that an answer to the question might be reached. The conclusion they reached was based upon scientific evidence and it implied that in general, marijuana decreases the musical efficiency of the subject, although the musician is under the impression that his efficiency is increased by the drug.

No one can either advocate or discourage the use of marijuana by musicians, since there are great musicians who use it, as well as great ones that do not. However, the fact that marijuana does have an extensive use in a branch of music is an exceptionally interesting sidelight.

THE INEVITABLE

By Katherine La Mancusa

Sure, shove your fist right down my throat,

And jab my tepid gum,
I've got three molars yet to spare,
Go on, and have your fun!

Sure, pack my mouth with cotton,
Throw in a pick or two,
And don't forget to inquire,
"Is this hurting you?"

Sure, weight my tongue with iron,
Now pack my teeth with wax,
Then ask me in a talkie mood,
"Filed your income tax?"

I see your wild arm flying,
I feel close warm breath,
Good heavens, Doc, hold your fire!
There must be an easier death.

My captain does not answer,
His face is grim and set,
A stupid leer from nose to ear,
This tooth he's gonna get!

Oh, orange juice in the morning,
And calcium's on the way,
Forget that folly—let's be jolly,
Teeth will always decay!

DISCUSS PROBLEM OF RACIAL CONFLICT

Problems of racial conflict that face the Peace Conference will be discussed by Dr. Carlo L. Lastrucci at a meeting of Gamma Sigma Pi on Friday, May 4, Cy Trobbe, president of the club, announced this week. All students are invited to participate in the discussion. Further details will be announced next week by posters.

EX-STATAR NOW LIEUTENANT IN WAC

First Lieutenant DeEtte Winter, graduate of State, was recently promoted to that position by the War Department. Lieutenant Winter is commanding officer of a basic training company at First WAC Training Center, Fort Des Moines, Iowa.

Before enlisting in the WAC, she taught at the Santa Rosa junior high school.

FROM THE BENCH

By Ed Osorio

Tomorrow's return match with the SFJC Rams will bring down the final curtain on State's varsity baseball season.

Yes, tomorrow at 12:30 over at Big Rec, Coach Dan Farmer's boys will have their last opportunity to show their stuff.

Close Call

It will be remembered that although State finally walked away with the honors, the boys from Ocean Avenue put up a whale of a good fight. The game was close all the way, and it was only through the grace of God that we won.

In tomorrow's tilt, Big Elm Roelling will chuck for the Gators, as usual. "Wild Bill" Kennerley will handle first sack, Ed Murray will hold down second bag, Jim McGilley will rest on third, and Norb Ferreira will play short stop.

State's outfield will consist of the Terrible Trio. That is Larry "Slats" Slater, Vic "Iron Man" Giannini and Johnnie "Golden Boy" Lavender.

Heavy Hitters Inc.

For hitting power, Coach Farmer will no doubt rely upon the strong arms of Elm Roelling, Norb Ferreira and Johnnie Lavender. So far this season, both Lavender and Ferreira have knocked four baggers.

Prospects for a State victory tomorrow are good, in fact very good, but I'm rather a superstitious individual so I'll wear my voodoo charms and keep my fingers crossed.

Here's the Dope

With the close of the baseball season nearly upon us, your humble scribe could not help but take a peek at the horseshoe ledger. As things stand, State has won three out of the nine tussles in which it has participated.

Its victims have been San Francisco Junior College, Marin Junior College and Commerce High. Looking at the scarlet side of the book, State has been beaten by San Jose (twice), the Cal Bears, Commerce, and two service teams. Uhhh!

If State wins tomorrow, however, our boys will have won 40 per cent of the games in which they have played. Taking into account the manpower shortage, Coach Farmer and his Merry Men have nothing of which to be ashamed.

Good News Dept.

I thought that my tired old optics were deceiving me, but no it was Big Jim Diggins sporting a zoot suit of navy blues around the campus.

Bill, who left State in February to join Uncle Sam's sea-going crew, is home on a furlough. From what I can gather he has been having a pretty good time.

Captain Lynch of the All-Stars was so happy to see Jim back that he immediately drafted him to play on his team. That Lynch is a smooth boy!

State Tennisters Meet Coast Guard

Viciously armed with balls and rackets, tennisters from the Coast Guard barracks at Bay and Powell will drop anchor on our beloved institution tomorrow at 1 p.m. Daily drills out on the courts are keeping our men in peak condition for the battle.

Staters Vern Freethy, Marc Gelles, Fred Hanson and Ed Murray will participate in doubles and singles matches. Especially brutal competition is expected.

State's four Knights of the Clay Courts ended nearly two weeks of idleness a week ago yesterday, when they met a prep team from George Washington High on the Gators' home courts. The college men took the youngsters for every match. The meet had been postponed a week.

Students laying any claim to school-spirit would do well to exemplify it by coming out and supporting the team tomorrow.

STATE GRADUATE IN MEDITERRANEAN

Now attending the Mediterranean theater branch of Armed Forces Institute, is Pfc. Norman L. Christensen, graduate of State. Private Christensen, taking a course in physics, has been overseas 14 months and wears the Mediterranean theater ribbon with two battle participation stars. He has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal.

PARENT-FACULTY OFFICERS ELECTED

Installation of officers for the Parent-Faculty Club will be held on April 4, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ignatius Trapani. The officers for 1945-46 are: Mrs. Oscar A. Anderson, president; Mrs. F. Haggerty, vice-president; Mrs. G. J. Napris, recording secretary; Mrs. H. A. Riecks, financial secretary; Mrs. A. C. Behm, treasurer; Mrs. G. H. Meese, auditor; Mrs. E. V. Essman, parliamentarian; and Mrs. C. H. Flemer, historian.

Ramblers Nose Out Cardinals in Rally

In a spectacular overtime rally, Elm Roelling's Ramblers defeated Johnnie Lavender's Cardinals by a final score of 12-11.

The game, with its cavalcade of runs and salvo of hits, easily qualifies as the thrill classic of the softball season.

Getting off to a flying start, the Ramblers scored three runs in the first. Credit goes to Elm Roelling, Johnny Nazer and Frank Hutchinson.

Not to be outdone, the Cardinals slashed back viciously in the second frame. Before the third out, Johnnie Lavender, Joe Cristofaro, Don Pagani, Ray Milton and Neil Henock had each contributed one digit to the Cardinals' score.

Undaunted, the Cardinals returned to transform the third frame into a scoring orgy. Run followed run, and when the smoke finally cleared, the Cardinals had chalked up another six trips across the plate. Thanks to the work of Al Benson, Grove Mohr, Johnnie Lavender, Don Pagani, Bill Kennerley and Ray Milton.

With the final seconds of the game ticking away far too fast and a Cardinal victory almost certain, Roelling's boys made a powerful rally. Hal Fox, Bill Ashton, Vince O'Leary, Bill O'Neil, Frank Hutchinson, Elm Roelling and Bob Thomas folloyed each other over fourth base in quick succession.

Gators Meet Rams In Final Game of Season

Winding up its fourth war-time baseball season, S. F. State's victory-starved nine will meet S. F. J. C. tomorrow at Big Rec, at 12:30. The Gators, who beat the Jaycees earlier in the season in a 8 to 6 thriller, will be fighting to maintain their perfect record of never having lost to the Rams on the diamond.

Nifty Awards For Cross-Country Run

Only twelve more days remain till the cross-country run, you lucky Homo Sapiens, you!

Prospective contestants will be overjoyed to a point of hysteria to learn that uses for the gold ribbons to be awarded the first ten runners are being discovered daily. Winners can wear them across their chests and sneak into the United Nations Conference as ambassadors. Or, they can pull a few threads out, lay them on their shoulders, and give the impression of a recent tete a tete with a blonde. Other assorted uses are as hat bands, tourniquets, band-aids, hair ribbons, book marks, etc. Don't miss your opportunity to procure one of these valuable items!

Negotiations with Miss Betty Grable, of Hollywood, are now under way, in the hope she will be on hand to make the awards. However, Miss Grable has, through her secretary, made it known that she would much rather run with the boys—that is, if Harry doesn't mind.

Meanwhile, much commotion has been caused of late by the early morning cavortings of one of the Freshman gym classes while dashing over the course. Watch the language, huh men?

Coach Dan Farmer's mound choice will, as usual, be his "Iron-man" ace, Elm Roelling. Roelling has accounted for three wins for State, while being tagged with four losses.

Starting hurler for the Rams will be either Johnny Lopeman, side arm curve ball artist, or Bob Boone. Lopeman was the victim of the Gators' eleven hit batting attack in the previous encounter, while Boone lost to the U. S. Maritime Officers 7 to 5 his last time out.

Farmer, after numerous changes and experiments, will stick with the infield combination of "Wild Bill" Kennerley, Jim McGilley, Ed Murray and Norb Ferreira. The presence of McGilley, who missed the last two games because of illness, will greatly aid the difficult infield situation.

Frank Lynch, who has shown considerable improvement as a receiver this season, will again go behind the log.

State's outfield trio will be Slats Slater, Vic Giannini, and John Lavender, who will make his presence known with his booming bat. Other big guns in the Gators' lineup are Ferreira and Roelling, while Lynch, Kennerley, and Murray can be counted on for a hit or two.

S. F. J. C. features an unusual drawing card in Don Grant, crippled third baseman, who plays on his hands and knees. Grant, a paralysis victim, is able to stand for only a second or two at a time, but when he has a play to make, is as capable as the next man of rising to the occasion, literally as well as figuratively speaking.

With consent of the opposition, a courtesy runner is allowed to stand at the plate and run when he hits the ball. Grant is also playing manager for the Shipfitters' semi-pro nine in the Big Rec League.

The Gators and Rams have had two common foes in collegiate competition this year: Marin J. C. and Cal. The Jaycees trounced Marin by a 16 to 1 count, while the Gators took a 10 to 5 decision from the same club. However, State held Cal to an 8 to 3 victory, after the Bears drubbed the Rams 16 to 3.

Lynch's All-Stars Beat Crusaders, 9-7

Recuperating from their earlier defeat, Frank Lynch's All-Stars dimmed the hopes of Ed Murray's Crusaders by squelching them to the tune of 9-7.

The first inning proved to be the big one for the Crusaders; it was then that they piled up most of their seven digits. The All-Stars, on the other hand, played more consistently, making not less than two runs in each frame.

Spartans Defeat Gators In the Thriller of the Year

Trekking down to San Jose in the early light of dawn State's hopeful nine was defeated 10-7, in the heartbreaker of the season.

Handicapped by a lack of players, State nevertheless put up its best fight of the year. As can be expected, the absence of Vic Giannini, Joe Perez and Jim McGilley was deeply felt.

Filled with the will-to-win, State came to bat with fire in its eye. Norb Ferreira singled and stole second and third. Then cashing in on Elm Roelling's single, Norb scored the Gator's initial run.

The Spartans were not long in retaliating. "Bee-oo-tiful" Milo Badger and Bill Marcipian piled up two runs for their Alma Mater.

Tie Score

In the third frame, Frank Lynch, who had stolen second, zoomed across the plate on another Roelling fly. For the moment the score was tied.

It wasn't long before the boys from San Jose came back to life. Once more they chalked up another two digits.

In the fourth, Frank Hutchinson, who had up to then done nothing extraordinary, smashed a beautiful three bagger deep into the Spartans' center field. Then taking advantage of Lynch's double, Frank added the third run to State's tally.

Sizzling Seventh

The seventh inning proved to be the big one for Coach Farmer's boys. Big Ed Murray, who had stolen second, came in on Uorb Ferreira's homer.

Yes, this boy Ferreira proved his powerful hitting ability by smashing a four bagger over the fence.

This was the critical moment, one more run would tie the game.

Blood Bank Has Worst Week of Entire Drive; 100 Pints Needed by May 24

State's campus Blood Bank made its worst showing of the campaign this week—a showing so bad that Dean Mary Ward expressed fear that the college reputation might be harmed by failure to meet the quota set.

Only two persons were signed up—not enough for even one station wagon load. One of these, by the way, was Mrs. Adelia Sparrow, who already has donated 8 times.

CLOTHING STILL NEEDED TO FILL STATE'S QUOTA

With the goal having been set at five pounds per person, Delta Sigma Nu has collected 300 pounds of clothing for the United Nations Clothing Collection. Coats and shoes outnumber the other articles that have been turned in.

More and more clothing and blankets are needed to help reach the goal set for the city of San Francisco. Delta Sigma Nu members hope that by next Monday, when the drive ends, the collection will have reached their goal of 500 pounds.

Beverly Brillhart, Delta Sigma Nu president, has had a thermometer made and put up by the collection boxes in front of Dean Ward's office to register the amount of clothing that has been turned in.

"This showing is discouraging, especially when the drive has gone so well before this week," said Dean Ward. "If we fail to do better than this, I am afraid the reputation of the college will suffer."

Need 100 Pints

The drive has reached the halfway mark in its quota of 200 pints of blood—one pint per person. But only three weeks remain before the start of the final examination period, May 24. This date will mark the virtual end of the drive, although donations may be given during the summer session.

In other words, it is vital that about 35 persons a week sign up for blood donations STARTING RIGHT NOW, if the drive is to be a success.

Dean Ward pointed out that only five persons had signed up for next week, and three of these are repeats—Joe Barish, who has given nine times already, Mary Erdman, who has given six and Dorothy Colgan, twice.

Only 10% Donated

"We need most of all students giving for the first time," said Dean Ward. "Actually only 10 per cent of State men and women have donated their blood. This is a very low percentage, considering the tremendous need for blood right now and the great contribution it makes toward winning the war."

Signups still may be made in Dean Ward's office in College Hall. The new men's service organization, Phi Eta Chi, has a registration booth operating at noontimes in the cafe.

One hundred pints of blood in three weeks offers a challenge to the fighting patriotic spirit of State College. See Dean Ward TODAY for your appointment.

be a permanent memorial to him. "If there had been more thinking persons," she said, "this war could have been avoided. War and peace concern us all."

Mrs. Cowell, sponsor of the campus roundtables, said it should be resolved that "as long as we live we shall work for international understanding and a lasting peace."

Student Speakers

Betty Jennings, chairman on coordinating the roundtables, told of the work accomplished during the month-long sessions. Mrs. Helen Ettlinger, leader of the open roundtable, declared that the road to war ends only in profit, greed and suffering, but the road to peace, although more difficult, is the only road if we are to survive.

"This time," she said, "we either think our way through to world peace or face another war."

Contest To Be Re-Opened For Journalism Students

At its meeting Wednesday, the Board of Publications voted to re-open the contest for the San Francisco State College Honor Roll for Distinguished Creative Effort and Cooperation on the staff of the Golden Gater that was started in 1940. The contest is open to all editors and reporters who have turned in copy for the last two semesters.

Awards are given for features, editorials, sports and news. Names last engraved on the plaque in 1943 were Betty Cloak for features, Paul Scholten for editorials, George Caulfield for sports, and Pierre Salinger for news. None were added in 1944 because the Gator staff was so small there would have been little or no competition.

Entries are to be submitted to the Board of Publications on or before May 14 and are limited to three in any one field. Judges from the College are Dr. Carlo Lastrucci and Mr. Hugh Baker. Final judging for the best in the four fields will be done by an editor of one of the city papers.

Positions for the Franciscan staff offices have to be turned in to the Board of Publications by May 9. Positions open are editor, managing editor, activities editor, sports editor, senior editor, organization editor, photography editor and advertising manager. Applicants are to state their qualifications and three positions they would like to hold in order of preference.

The Franciscan editors and the Gater awards will be announced at the semi-annual dinner of Alpha Phi Gamma and the Gater.

FILMS SHOWN TUESDAY

Two films, "Mexico Builds a Democracy" and "Young Uruguay," will be shown next Tuesday noon in College Hall, room 208, and again at 1:00 in room 209. Educational systems are stressed in these two films.

HOUSING AID NEEDED

Dean Mary A. Ward has issued a plea to all State students giving up rooms or apartments at the end of the term to turn the information in to her as soon as possible. She states that this will alleviate much of the difficulty in finding quarters for Summer Session students.

EDUCATION MEETING WITH MRS. LUND

Students planning to enter Education 130 in the fall will meet with Mrs. Agnes Lund, counselor for the course, next Wednesday noon, May 2, in room 208 College Hall. At this conference the professional program of the upper division will be explained, and students will be given directions concerning the making of their programs for summer sessions and the fall semester.

The meeting is for students who will have completed 58 or more units of work by the end of summer session, Mrs. Lund explained. Students enrolling in music activities on Wednesday noon will be excused to attend the meeting.

No place like home... Have a Coke

...a swing session at our house

A good way to put Welcome on the mat at your house is to have ice-cold Coca-Cola in the refrigerator. Have a Coke just naturally means Be one of our gang or You're like one of the family. Whenever young folks meet for a song fest, chin fest or swing session, ice-cold Coca-Cola is their symbol of companionship.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of San Francisco

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
You naturally hear Coca-Cola called by its friendly abbreviation "Coke". Both mean the quality product of The Coca-Cola Company.
